Mojdeh Bowers graduated from New York University with a BA in political science in 2013.

Prior to attending law school, she spent two years teaching first grade in Jersey City, New Jersey, on behalf of Teach For America.

While in law school, Ms. Bowers was elected by her peers to serve as vice president of the Mock Trial Board. In the spring of 2018, she and her trial team attended the National Trial Competition in Austin, Texas, after winning their regional tournament in Washington, DC. Ms. Bowers was also an articles editor for The Federal Circuit Bar Journal volume 27, where she published her Note titled “Cyberspace, The Final Frontier: Examining the International Trade Commission’s Jurisdiction Over Digital Information.” Ms. Bowers spent the summer after her second year of law school working for The U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission Division of Enforcement.
