Ms. Danna attended the University of Michigan, where she received her undergraduate degree in art history, with honors

At Michigan, Ms. Danna played Women's Water Polo.

Thereafter, and on a National Dean's Merit Academic Scholarship, Ms. Danna attended Whittier Law School, where she received her JD and certificate in criminal law. While in law school, Ms. Danna clerked for the Orange County Public Defender's Office, and assisted in capital case work and juvenile proceedings.

Following graduation, Ms. Danna's practice has been devoted to civil defense work. She handles a variety of matters, including, but not limited to: personal injury, products liability, premises liability, and employment disputes. She has aggressively defended clients in all phases of litigation—from case inception up to trial—and has obtained favorable results.

Ms. Danna is admitted to practice law in California, and before the United States District Courts for the Northern, Central, and Southern Districts of California
