Dustin Rabi is an associate attorney based in the Los Angeles office.

Before joining Yukevich | Cavanaugh, Mr. Rabi's practice involved a wide range of matters involving premises liability, commercial automobile, construction defect, and professional liability matters.

Within his first year of practice, Mr. Rabi successfully researched, drafted, and argued numerous motions including motions for summary judgment and demurrers through which he secured a complete defense for his clients.

Mr. Rabi attended Pepperdine Rick J. Caruso School of Law, where he served as an editor and published author in the Journal of the National Association of Administrative Law. Before attending law school, Mr. Rabi graduated from California State Northridge with a Bachelor of Arts in Music.

Mr. Rabi's varied life experience before becoming an attorney allows him to bring a practical and unique perspective to legal challenges with a relatable style for his clients.
